INTRODUCTION

THE VAULT OF AGES - VOLUME 4

An ancient sword connected with a warrior of legend, the still-beating heart of a dead celestial, the lost armor of a fallen king - loot not only provides benefits to adventurers, it can inspire or guide narratives in entirely new, unexpected and compelling directions. In the hands of the right hero, they may even change the course of an entire civilization, or save the world!

Within these pages you will find 36 such objects (9 for each tier of play) to enhance your Daggerheart adventures, expanding on available options for players and GMs alike.

PRINTABLE CARDS

The Vault of Ages aims to provide your table with new options in a format that allows you to print and cut your own cards. Both color and black-and-white options are provided so you can choose your preference.

■ ITEM RARITY

Each card displays its intended Tier of play in the top-left corner for easy reference, where the level is located on Domain cards. In addition, they are assigned a color for easy identification:

RARITY	TIER	COLOR
Common	1	Grey
Uncommon	2	Green
Rare	3	Blue
Very Rare	4	Purple
Artifact	A	Orange
Cursed	C	Black

■ ARTIFACTS

Stepping out of legend and into the hands of characters and villains, Artifacts are potent magic items beyond the power level of other loot. Some have potentially world-changing capabilities that can create story-altering moments that can shift an entire campaign. Thus, it is important to hand them out sparingly - and the GM should consider incorporating them into the main storyline or linking them to a backstory of one of the characters.

■ CURSED ITEMS

Cursed items offer powerful benefits, but always at a cost. When a character touches one, they replace a card in their loadout with it, and move the replaced card into their vault. The curse conditions, features and benefits are then active and bound to the character permanently until the curse is ended. The GM should determine the method through which this is accomplished; It should be a difficult or dangerous task woven deeply into the campaign's story. While they don't need to suffer, the curse should significantly impact their life.

Ending a Curse

Below are several examples of ways a curse might be broken, but there are truly no limits to where you can take this:

- Douse the object in the flames of creation at the dawn of time.
- Wed a Goddess under the light of a shattered moon.
- Sit on the throne of a thrice-murdered King.
- Earn redemption for the soul within the item.
- Shatter the mind of a living psychopomp using only a love song.
- Convince a demon to sacrifice themselves for a noble cause.
- Kill a demon lord with the item.
- Earn the favor of the Lord of Life.
- Erase the memory of your existence from the world.

OPTIONAL RULES

■ ITEM RECALL COSTS

The items presented within the Vault are often more powerful than those within the Daggerheart™ Core Rulebook. To balance this, most items in the Vault have Recall costs as with a Domain card. Below are two optional rules GMs should consider for their table to use with them:

Card recall costs are found in the top-right corner of non-consumable items with greater power levels.

Standard Cost

To equip a magic item that has a Recall cost, players must pay the Recall cost and swap one of their loadout cards with it, just as they would with a Domain card, with the same total number of slots (5). This keeps power-creep to a minimum and inspires compelling player choices in critical story moments.

Expanded Item Loadouts

Another option the GM can consider is to allow additional loadout slots for these items. The following list provides ways you might choose to calculate these additional slots:

- Half the characters current Tier (2 maximum.)
- 1 + Half the characters current Tier (3 maximum.)
- Half the character's Proficiency (3 maximum.)
- Half the characters Knowledge (minimum 1).
- No limits. Let them be demigods.

■ ITEM SETS

Introduced in Volume 4 are 'Item Sets'. These items always have a feature containing a list of other item names and an associated benefit that they provide. When a character has them all within their loadout, the benefit becomes available to them.

■ ALTERNATE SCARS

As an optional rule, GMs can create a wider array of complications and compelling narrative impacts when a player gains a Scar by asking their players to permanently cross out Hit Points, Stress or other traits. Through this method, you can replicate concussions (Stress), diseases or amputations (Hit Points) or other serious health issues.

However, it is critical to maintain player agency, and never penalize a player by removing choices they made at a level up, and to provide some narrative means they can take to cure themselves of this affliction.

■ CRITICAL FAILURES AND PERFECT CRITS

As an alternate rule for critical rolls of the Duality Dice, try treating treating 'Snake Eyes' (double 1's) as a critical failure with Fear, and double 12's as a 'Perfect Crit'.

Outcome-wise, a critical failure is the worst outcome for that moment in the narrative, and gives the GM an additional Fear. On the other hand, Perfect Crits always have the best possible outcome. The character clears 2 Stress and gains 2 Hope.

■ CONDITIONS

Some items in the Vault of Ages afflict creatures with new Conditions, which are provided in the table below for reference:

CONDITION	EFFECT
Dominated	Start a countdown (X). You control the target during it's spotlight until the countdown ends. If attacked or made to act against its nature, reduce the countdown by 1.
Marked	You have advantage on ranged attacks against Marked targets.
Paranoid	When you mark Stress , mark an additional point. If you have marked all of your Stress, gain a permanent phobia or minor mental condition.
Horrorified	A Horrorified creature can't use passive features and can't take actions against or approach within Close range of the source of the effect.

TIER 1 (COMMON) ITEMS

■ BRACERS OF ACCURACY

Loot

Originally created to hold off the tide of goblinoid invaders so common on the western fringes of Vetherok, these enchanted bracers saw wider adoption in the ages that followed due to their inexpensive and easily duplicated enchantment.

Recall Cost: 0

When you miss with a ranged attack, you can mark a Stress to add your Agility to the attack roll, potentially changing a miss into a hit.

■ DEADWOOD SLAYER

Primary Weapon

Once borne by the cursed warrior known as Escal Ayla, this fell weapon is rumored to contain necromantic power that can bring those it kills back...as servants to the bearer.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Instinct

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d8+1 Physical

Undying Servant: When an attack by this weapon kills a living adversary with no more than 3 Hit Points, at the end of your spotlight you can spend a Hope to revive it as a Rotted Zombie under your control. It stays within Close range of you and can perform harmless tasks within that range. You can make a Presence Roll (12) to command the Rotted Zombie to attack or take an action. The creature remains under your control until it is destroyed, you use this feature again, or end the effect. When the effect ends, the Rotted Zombie collapses.

■ FORK OF EXPOSITION

Loot

A horribly impolite wizard created this utensil as a means to gather covert intelligence in social settings without the risk of impropriety or social faux pas.

Recall Cost: 0

When you share a meal using this fork, make a Presence Roll (12) to activate it until the end of the scene. Name a topic; on a success, a number of creatures within Close range equal to your Presence (minimum 1) engage in discussion on the topic, and the GM tells you one thing each would mention in ordinary conversation. The targets aren't compelled to reveal secret or confidential information. On a failure, the fork can't be used again until your after your next rest.

■ SOULCALL TAPER

Consumable

Shamans and witch-doctors use these candles to empower their magic with spiritual power drawn from the dead.

As a Downtime move, describe a lengthy shamanic ritual involving an old skull, the taper, and merging your two spiritual essences. The taper is consumed, and until after your next long rest you add +1 to your Spellcast Rolls, and add your level to any damage inflicted by spells you cast during a Tag Team roll.

■ TRAVELER'S FLASK

Loot

This unique flask was shaped by the tale-swapper known as Indicos Yaetes as a means to thrive on long journeys between communities where he performed, but the ability to convert this water into healing tonics proved a far more valuable capability. Despite this, it did not save him from a Fowlbear attack.

Recall Cost: 1

This flask is always full of cold water when you most need it. Once per long rest, you can spend 3 Hope to convert a glass worth of this water into a Health Potion.

■ TANKARD OF MIGHT

Loot

Frennik tribesmen use these enchanted tankards before a battle, though not every warrior benefits from the effects.

Recall Cost: 0

When you fill this tankard to the brim with beer and consume the contents, make a Strength Roll (12). Until your next rest you gain +1 Strength and on a success, have advantage on Strength rolls. On a failure, you are intoxicated, and have disadvantage on trait rolls associated with mental or social tasks.

TIER 2 (UNCOMMON) ITEMS

■ AKU-HAPTLEK'S TOOTH

Secondary Weapon

This vile smelling short blade has a bizarre configuration that allows it to easily parry attacks, and it constantly secretes enchanted slime that is bonded to the weapon itself.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Agility

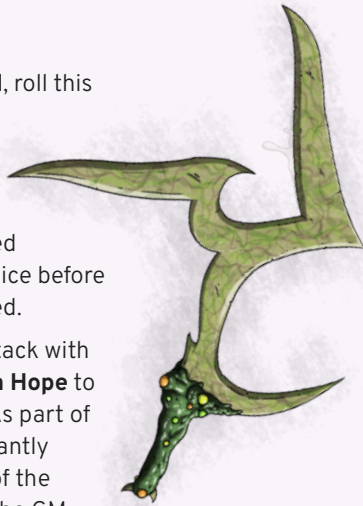

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d8+5 physical

Parry: When you are attacked, roll this weapon's damage dice. If any of the attacker's damage dice rolled the same value as your dice, the matching results are discarded from the attacker's damage dice before the damage you take is totaled.

Secretion: On a successful attack with this weapon, you can spend a Hope to coat the adversary in slime. As part of your movement, you can instantly teleport within Melee range of the slime. The effect ends when the GM spends a Fear to end it, or you use the feature again.

■ DUSTWANDER

Armor

Found on the corpse of a shaman from the Hestrae Wastes, this curious cloak provides magical protection and is perfect for those seeking stealth and speed when wandering inhospitable territory.

Recall Cost: 1

Armor Score: 4

Damage Thresholds: 8/16

Warded: You reduce incoming magic damage by your Armor Score before applying it to your damage thresholds.

Sandstrider: You can mark a Stress to instantly move within Very Far range within obscuring effects like sandstorms, smoke or dust without requiring an Agility roll, and have resistance to physical damage until you take Severe damage, or the scene ends.

■ FATEGLASS SHIELD

Secondary Weapon

Reflecting light from nearby sources, the bearer can project illusory patterns and colors that can confuse or dazzle opponents.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Instinct

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d6 Physical

Barrier: +2 to Armor Score, -1 to Evasion

Hypnotic Illusion: Once per long rest when an adversary misses you with an attack, you can spend a Hope to dazzle creatures within Close range using shifting, entralling colors and patterns. They must succeed on a Reaction Roll (13) or become temporarily Restrained.

■ GLORIOUS CUIRASS

Armor

This cuirass cleans itself, never tarnishing or aging. Stories claim the bearer of this armor draws power from felling foes to shift the tides of battle in their favor.

Recall Cost: 1

Armor Score: 4

Damage Thresholds: 12/24

Hopeful: When you would spend a Hope, you can mark an Armor Slot instead.

Glorious Purpose: Once per long rest you can spend a Hope; until the scene ends, whenever you cause an adversary to mark their last Hit Point, gain a Hope.

TIER 2 (UNCOMMON) ITEMS

■ HORRID SPECIMEN

Loot

Reflecting light from nearby sources, the bearer can project illusory patterns and colors that can confuse or dazzle opponents.

Recall Cost: 2

You can spend a Hope to make a Spellcast Roll (14) against a mortal, non-evil creature within Far range that can see. On a success, the target is Horrified until after its next long rest or the GM spends a Fear to end the effect. Horrified creatures can't use passive features or make action rolls against you, and must be beyond Close range of you at the end of their spotlight.

■ MONOLITH SMASHER

Primary Weapon

An impact from this hammer is said to be able to stun even the most stalwart of opponents, though it is crude in form, and awkward to wield.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Strength

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d8+5 physical

Impact Burst: When you deal Major damage to an object with this weapon, you can spend a Hope to cause an eruption of force. Adversaries within Very Close range make a Reaction Roll (14) or they are pushed out to Close range and take d6 magical damage equal to your Proficiency.

■ OBSIDIAN OFFERING

Loot

A plain obsidian band infused with volcanic essence, granting resistance and a burning touch to those who wear it.

Recall Cost: 0

You are immune to the effects of severe heat, fire or lava, can't be burned, and can walk on the surface of molten material as if it was completely solid. Additionally, you can add your Tier +1 to your unarmed damage.

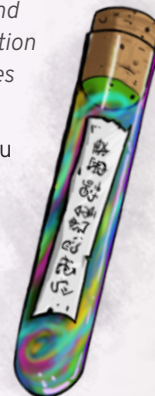

■ PRISMATONIC

Consumable

Glittering with a myriad of impossible colors and possessing unrivaled vibrance, this fey concoction can distract with its illusory beauty, and soothes the minds of spectators.

When you ingest this multicolored potion, you generate a rainbow of colored light within Close range until the scene ends. It illuminates the area brightly, revealing hidden objects or creatures. Creatures in the area have disadvantage on any action rolls they make, but clear a Stress if they remain in the area until the effect ends.

■ SLEUTH'S FEDORA

Loot

Granted to Garron Cairoch for his faithful service to a devil, it grants power to its bearer to suss out the truth, sharpen instincts, and infuse ones fists with unholy potency.

Recall Cost: 1

You can give the GM a Fear to draw on the infernal power of this enchanted cap. Until your next rest, add your Instinct as magical damage to your unarmed attacks. In addition, you gain advantage on Instinct rolls. On a success, clear a Stress.

TIER 3 (RARE) ITEMS

■ DRIFTWOOD IDOL

Loot

When it washed ashore a century ago, the bearer of this idol scared his entire village to death - a tragedy all too common for relics infused with dark magic.

Recall Cost: 2

While carrying this palm-sized idol on your person, you can make a Spellcast Roll (14) to channel its fell power. On a success, spend a Hope and describe how your visage shifts to terrify and intimidate. Until the scene ends, mortal creatures within Close range of you at the start of their spotlight must make a Reaction Roll (14) or become Vulnerable until their next spotlight or the GM spends a Fear to end the condition, and they can't approach you beyond Close range.

■ QUINTESSAL EXTRACT

Consumable

This powerful potion drastically enhances mastery of a particular spell, creating frightful power for a short time. Be warned, however: Its side-effects can prove hazardous to the unprepared spell-weaver.

When you drink this potion, select a Domain card in your loadout. Until the scene ends, you have advantage on any Spellcast, Trait or Attack rolls the Domain card requires. Adversaries have disadvantage against Reaction Rolls the spell causes, and you add +1 Proficiency to the damage. When the effect ends, place the chosen card into your vault; until your next long rest, you have disadvantage on Spellcast Rolls.

■ SAWTOOTH GORGET

Loot

By feeding the relic your own blood, it is said that it can grant a warrior the strength and power to kill any enemy.

Recall Cost: 1

You can mark a Hit Point to cut yourself on the teeth of this gorget. Until the scene ends, you have advantage on Strength rolls and your melee attacks inflict an additional 2d6 magical damage.

■ SAINTLY GUARD

Secondary Weapon

This blessed shield delivers punishment to foes that fail to breach its guard, blasting them with radiant power.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Instinct

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d6+3 magical

Radiant Protection: +1 to Armor Score; When an adversary misses you with an attack, you can mark a Stress to blast them with energy. Thy must succeed on a Reaction Roll (16) or take 3d6 magical damage.

Saint's Ensemble: When you possess the Saintly Guard, Vestments and Blade, gain +1 Evasion.

■ SAINTLY BLADE

Primary Weapon

The knight carrying this blade can channel divine lightning to smite their enemy, and share that wrath with any foes foolish enough to be nearby.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Strength

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d10+10 physical

Divine Lightning: When you cause Major damage to an adversary with this weapon, you can spend a Hope and place a Domain card from your loadout into your vault; add magical damage equal to twice its level to the attack. If you cause Severe damage, adversaries within Very Close range must make a Reaction Roll (16) or are also hit. On a success, they take half damage.

Saint's Ensemble: When you possess the Saintly Guard, Vestments and Blade, gain +1 Evasion.

TIER 3 (RARE) ITEMS

SAINTLY VESTMENTS

Armor

Armored against unholy foes, a warrior wearing this robe can call on divine blessings to help even the odds in even the most hopeless battle.

Recall Cost: 2

Armor Score: 4

Damage Thresholds:
9/24

Gilded: +1 to Presence

Divinely Inspired: Once per long rest until the scene ends, you can spend 3 Hope to replace your Hope Die with a d20.

Saint's Ensemble: When you possess the Saintly Guard, Vestments and Blade, gain +1 Evasion.

VOYNARIAN CROSSBOW

Primary Weapon

An ancient Voynarian manuscript claims that the famed Siege of Lark failed solely due to the warrior Drathlon Xik, who held off an entire legion for three weeks, allowing reinforcements to arrive and break the enemy.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Finesse

Range: Far

Burden: 1h

Damage: d6+8 physical

Arcane Precision: You can mark a Stress to gain advantage on attack rolls using this weapon.

Arcane Bolts: When you hit an adversary with this weapon, you can spend a Hope to target a number of creatures equal to half your Agility within Far range.

WHIRLWIND SLASHER

Primary Weapon

This blessed shield delivers punishment to foes that fail to breach its guard, blasting them with radiant power.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Agility

Range: Very Close

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d8+7 Physical

Hooked: On a successful attack, you can pull the target into Melee range.

Wind Runner: You can spend a Hope to move within Very Far range until the end of your spotlight. When you attack an adversary within Melee range with this weapon, you gain a bonus to your weapon damage roll based on the distance you moved beyond Very Close range before attacking, adding 1d6 per each distance (Close, Far, Very Far.)

ZANTHAK'S RAGE

Primary Weapon

A blade of stone and bone, ancient beyond reckoning. It's primordial magic is said to draw power on the suffering of others, turning it into a burning rage that harms enemies.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Strength

Range: Melee

Burden: Two-Handed

Damage: d10+9 physical

Massive: -1 to Evasion. On a successful attack, roll an additional damage die and discard the lowest result.

Burning Anger: Once per long rest until the end of the scene or until you are incapacitated, you can spend 3 Hope to create a fiery aura. Whenever an ally within Far range marks a Stress or Hit Point, add a token to this card. You can add the number of tokens to any damage inflicted by this weapon. Adversaries who start their spotlight within Very Close range must make a Reaction Roll (16) or mark a Stress.

TIER 4 (VERY RARE) ITEMS

■ ARCH-MAGUS'S ROBES

Armor

Worn as a symbol of station and status, these heavily warded robes protect a high-ranking wizard against direct physical attack, and it is said they can even sacrifice their own inner power to repel assault.

Recall Cost: 2

Armor Score: 2

Damage Thresholds:
10/30

Arcane Barrier: When you mark an Armor Slot from magical damage, you can mark a Stress instead.

Enchanted: Grants a bonus to your damage thresholds and Armor Score equal to your current Spellcast trait.

■ BLACK HOLE STAFF

Primary Weapon

None recall the origins of this potent gnarled staff that appears to have grown around a window revealing the endless eternity of the universe. The boundless swirls of raw quintessence that run within the darkness promise great power, which many have used to utterly crush their enemies with the weight of the cosmos.

Recall Cost: 3

Trait: Knowledge

Range: Far

Burden: Two-Handed

Damage: d20+7 magical

Painful: Each time you make a successful attack, you must mark a Stress.

Gravity Well: You can spend 3 Hope to create intense gravity at a target position within Close range. Until the scene ends, or you end the effect, creatures within Close range of the target position trying to move away from it must succeed on a Reaction Roll (18) or are pulled within Melee range instead. Adversaries that take Severe damage within Melee range of the target mark an additional Hit Point.

■ EPIDERMAL ROBE

Armor

This horrifying robe appears to be made of still-living skin, with a working circulatory system, and you can't shake the feeling that it is conscious...and terrified.

Recall Cost: 2

Armor Score: 1

Damage Thresholds: 8/28

Necrobiotic: You add a bonus to your Armor Score equal to your Hit Points, and a bonus to your damage thresholds equal to your Spellcast trait plus your Tier.

Regenerative: Once per rest while wearing the robe you clear a Hit Point and Armor Slot.

Siphon: Once per long rest until the end of the scene, you can mark a Hit Point to feed the robe your blood to add +1 Proficiency to your spell attacks.

■ NEUROMANTLE

Armor

Whatever manner of creature's brain and flesh compose this awful cloak, it still lives. The mind of this horror merges with that of the creature who bears it, granting them it's psionic abilities.

Recall Cost: 2

Armor Score: 5

Damage Thresholds: 13/36

Channeling: +1 to Spellcast rolls.

Thoughtbreaker: You can make a Spellcast Roll (18) to alter the minds of adversaries within Far range. Targets must succeed on a Reaction Roll (17) or can't see or interact with creatures other than yourself until the end of your next spotlight. If they hit you with an attack, they must mark a Stress or take d20 magical damage.

SHADOWCULL

Primary Weapon

The weapon carried by the Shadewalkers, a group of assassins whose name is seldom said louder than a whisper. Rumors claim that with these knives, they have felled targets behind locked doors, far out of reach.

Recall Cost: 1

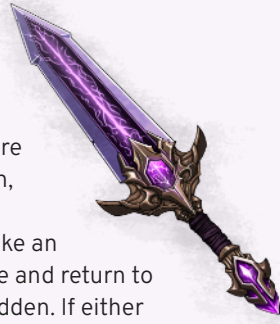

Trait: Finesse

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d10+9 physical

Reaper-Shift: If you are hidden before a successful attack with this weapon, you can spend a Hope to teleport anywhere within Close range and make an attack roll against a second creature and return to your starting position, remaining hidden. If either attack is a critical hit or a damage dice rolls a 10, you can mark a Stress to repeat the attack against an additional target within Close range.

TOADSTOOL STAFF

Primary Weapon

Infused with the wild magic of the Evergrowth, this living staff ripples with fey magic that aches to be used. Through the fungal life it creates, the wielder is able to step through time and space across any distance.

Recall Cost: 1

Trait: Instinct

Range: Melee

Burden: Two-Handed

Damage: d10+9 physical

Myconid Growth: During your spotlight, You can spend 2 Hope to modify or create mushrooms within Close range that rapidly grow to enormous size, have 3 Hit Points and damage thresholds of 21/43. They can be used as cover, or shelter from the elements. If destroyed, allies within Close range can clear a Stress.

Fungal Travel: You can mark 2 Stress to open a rift in the base of two mushrooms created or modified by this staff. Until the scene ends, creatures passing through one side instantly emerge from the other regardless of their location or distance.

UNICORN KNIFE

Secondary Weapon

Cruelly fashioned from a mythical creature representing absolute good, this unique blade would fetch a handsome price. Its true value, however, lies in the good fortune it is said to bring to any who would wield it.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Finesse

Range: Melee

Burden: One-Handed

Damage: d8+6 physical

Bonded: Gain a bonus to your damage rolls equal to your level.

Hopeslayer: When a creature within Close range marks its last Hit Point from an attack by this weapon, you gain a Hope.

VENGEANCE HELM

Loot

Forged by fire giants for human allies in a war long forgotten, this helm punishes enemies for harming you in battle, searing them with flaming doom in response to every successful strike.

Recall Cost: 2

Until the end of the scene, you can spend a Hope to gain power from the success of your enemies; whenever you are hit by an attack, place tokens on this card equal to any Armor Slots or Hit Points you mark as a result. You can add these tokens to your attack and damage rolls, or subtract them from damage rolls adversaries make against you. When the effect ends, remove all tokens on this card.

VERDANT DAUGHTER

Primary Weapon

This powerful bow was wielded by a great hero of the elven people, revered for his respect for the wilds and his unbreakable resolve in the face of danger.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Agility

Range: Very Far

Burden: Two-Handed

Damage: d8+12 physical

Cumbersome: -1 to Finesse

Spirit Arrow: You can spend a Hope to infuse an arrow with wild magic. On a hit, choose an effect to apply:

Lashing Vine: The target can't move until after their next spotlight, and your next attack against them has advantage.

Root Wall: An area between two points within Close range of the target becomes impassable, blocks vision, and provides cover. It has 2 Hit Points and 23/44 damage thresholds.

Life Thorn: Allies within Close range of the target clear a Stress, while adversaries mark a Stress.

ARTIFACTS

■ DEVIL-FINGER CHARM

Loot

A severed finger of a devil, attached to a simple string of charms. Placing powerful curses on your foes, it can also grant boons to allies...for a cost.

Recall Cost: 3

Enmity: When you or an ally make a Death Move, or your adversary marks their last Hit Point from an attack you make, you can spend 3 Hope and choose one of the following:

Boon: Allies within Close range of the target gain a Hope or clear a Hit Point, but the GM gains a Fear.

Bane: Adversaries within Close range of the target mark a Hit Point. The GM loses 1 Fear for each adversary that marks their last Hit Point from this effect.

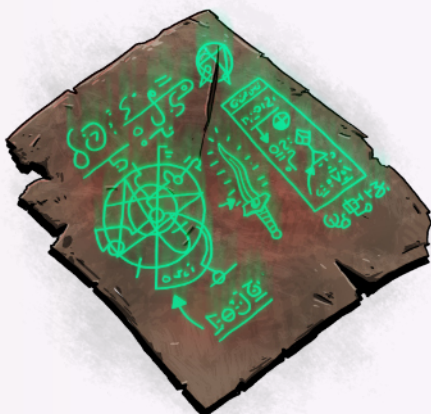

■ NARVIK CONTRACT

Consumable

This contract is written with ever-shifting glyphs of the mysterious language of the Outsiders called the Narvik. Sickly colors flicker through the writing. Staring at it for any length of time causes headaches or nausea, but it is said that these contracts provide great mystical power to those who make amendable deals with these entities...but often at the cost of their mental sanity. For those who crave power above all-else, this is often worth the cost.

If you agree to the terms of this mystical contract, make a Knowledge Roll (18) and describe how the secrets it reveals permanently affect your mental well-being; You gain a Scar, and on a success, permanently gain the Forbidden Knowledge feature. On a failure, permanently gain both features below. Then, permanently place this card in your vault.

Forbidden Knowledge: You can spend 3 Hope to gain advantage on your Spellcast rolls until the scene ends. You add your level to spell damage and adversaries have disadvantage on Reaction Rolls against their effects.

Narvik Curse: Forbidden Knowledge ends after your spotlight. Rather than costing Hope to activate it, the GM gains a Fear instead.

■ OATH OF BALANCE

Primary Weapon

The acquisition of this staff is the dream of many mages. Historical volumes claim the Oath can reshape the very fabric of reality, drain foes of their vital essence, and even draw on the casters own vitality to empower magic.

Recall Cost: 2

Trait: Instinct

Range: Far

Burden: Two-Handed

Damage: d12+12 magical

Essence Drain: When your attack causes an adversary to mark a Hit Point, you can clear a Stress. If the adversary has no stress remaining, clear a Hit Point instead.

Skewed Balance: You can make a Spellcast Roll (18) to attempt to twist the strands of fate to aid allies. On a success, mark any number of Stress and divide the total you marked among allies within Far range. They choose whether to clear a number of Hit Points, Stress or Armor Slots equal to the amount given.

Reserve Power: Once per long rest when you mark your last Stress, you can mark a Hit Point instead, and gain advantage on your next Spellcast Roll.

VENGEANCE HELM

You can spend a Hope to gain power from the success of your enemies; until the scene ends, whenever you are hit by an attack, place tokens on this card equal to any Armor Slots or Hit Points you mark as a result. You can add these tokens to your attack and damage rolls, or subtract them from damage rolls adversaries make against you. When the effect ends, remove all tokens on this card.

VERDANT DAUGHTER

Primary Weapon

Cumbersome: -1 to Finesse

Spirit Arrow: You can spend a Hope to infuse an arrow with wild magic. On a hit, choose an effect to apply:

Lashing Vine: The target can't move until after their next spotlight, and your next attack against them has advantage.

Root Wall: An area between two points within Close range of the target becomes impassable, blocks vision, and provides cover. It has 2 Hit Points and 23/44 damage thresholds.

Life Thorn: Allies within Close range of the target clear a Stress, while adversaries mark a Stress.

Finesse, Melee  d6+7 physical

DEVIL-FINGER CHARM

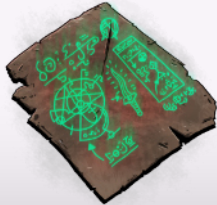

Enmity: When you or an ally make a death move, or when your adversary marks their last Hit Point from your attack, you can spend 3 Hope and choose one of the following:

Boon: Allies within Close range of the target gain a Hope or clear a Hit Point, but the GM gains a Fear.

Bane: Adversaries within Close range of the target mark a Hit Point. The GM loses 1 Fear for each adversary that marks their last Hit Point this way.

NARVIK CONTRACT

If you agree to the terms of this mystical contract, make a Knowledge Roll (18) and describe how the secrets it reveals permanently affect your mental well-being: You gain a Scar, and on a success, permanently gain the Forbidden Knowledge feature. On a failure, permanently gain both features below. Then, permanently place this card in your vault.

Forbidden Knowledge: You can spend 3 Hope to gain advantage on your Spellcast rolls until the scene ends. You add your level to spell damage and adversaries have disadvantage on Reaction Rolls against their effects.

Narvik Curse: Forbidden Knowledge ends after your spotlight. Rather than costing Hope to activate it, the GM gains a Fear instead.

OATH OF BALANCE

Primary Weapon

Essence Drain: If a spell attack causes an adversary to mark a Hit Point, you can clear a Stress. If they have marked all of their Stress, clear a Hit Point instead.

Skewed Balance: You can twist fate by making a Spellcast Roll (18). On a success, mark any number of Stress. Allies within Far range can then clear a number of Hit Points, Stress or Armor Slots of equal amount, however you choose to distribute it.

Reserve Power: Once per long rest when you mark your last Stress, you can mark a Hit Point instead to gain advantage on your next Spellcast Roll.

Instinct, Far  d12+12 magical
